Raise your voice
for the forgotten victims
of conflict

1-10 December 2016

HANDICAP INTERNATIONAL

What's in this pack?

Inside this Action Pack you'll find out how your school can take action this December to support the forgotten victims of conflict.

You could engage your students in exploring the impact of conflict on young people worldwide using our free teaching materials. There are suggestions for getting your class, year group or the whole school involved.

The pack also has exciting fundraising ideas so you can support efforts to clear unexploded weapons, provide rehabilitation to the victims, and prevent more accidents.

And you'll learn how your students could get involved with campaigning to protect civilians and ensure that the victims of conflict are not forgotten.

Simply return the order form enclosed and we will send you free teaching resources and all the materials you need for a fantastic event in your school!

Explosive weapons

Explosive weapons destroy lives - they cause serious injuries and amputations, leading to severe disabilities and psychological trauma.

Over 43,000 people were killed or injured by explosive weapons in 2015. When they are used in populated areas 92% of the victims are civilians.

Raise your voice
for the forgotten victims
of conflict

Your students can make a real difference

Malak's life changed forever in December 2015 when her house was bombed in Syria. One of her legs was fractured, the other blown off. Her brother was severely burned and blinded.

The whole family's lives were turned upside down and they are still shaken. But little Malak is making remarkable progress.

Handicap International physiotherapist, Mohammed, explains, "The first time I met her, Malak was still in shock. She was crying all the time and she wouldn't talk to anyone."

After weeks of rehabilitation in Zaatari refugee camp in Jordan, our team took Malak's measurements and fitted her with a prosthesis.

Tragically stories like Malak's are far too common. Barely a week goes by without new reports of hospitals, schools and homes being hit during air strikes in countries like Syria and Yemen.

The Forgotten 10 Challenge is a unique chance for your students to support children like Malak, who may otherwise be forgotten. Please join us today to make a difference!

Raise awareness in your school

Support your students to explore the impact of conflict and apply what they've learnt by raising awareness in the wider school. Here are some ideas to inspire them using our free resources:

SYRIA'S YOUNG SURVIVORS

Our set of posters, 'Syria's Young Survivors', tells the stories of four young Syrians whose lives have been changed forever by the conflict. The posters are accompanied by a booklet with ideas for using the stories as a stimulus for learning. This is a great way to engage your students with the experiences of young victims of conflict and an opportunity for them to show their support.

You could use this resource to run in-depth activities with one class or year group, and then invite the whole school to come and find out more. Your students could host an exhibition, guiding their peers and encouraging them to take action. Challenge your students to think up their own campaigning ideas!

STUDENT-LED ASSEMBLY

Once your class understands the issues, challenge them to organise an assembly. You could use our PowerPoints which contain key information, outline a day in the life of a deminer, and present stories of survivors from around the world.

Your assembly could start with a powerful short film from our DVD or YouTube playlist or a selection of photos on our Flickr account: <http://bit.ly/Hi-Flickr>

Continue with a sense of drama, speaking from the perspective of a survivor, telling the story of their journey to school and the moment their life was changed forever. They could present statistics and explain the impact that explosive weapons are having on civilians today.

© J.J. Bernard/Handicap International

Mention that their actions are part of a global campaign and invite other students to learn more by joining your class at a special event later on. This is the perfect opportunity to use our 'Syria's Young Survivors' posters and ask students and teachers to sign the petition (p.6).

LESSONS ON LANDMINES

Why not engage your students with lessons based around one of our PowerPoint presentations or use the factsheets in our campaign kit to explore the topic in more depth.

The films in our YouTube playlist (<http://bit.ly/HiUK-SchoolsPlaylist>) are a great complement to classroom activities.

You could also encourage other teachers to introduce the topic. Pass this pack on to your PSHE or Citizenship co-ordinator and ask how they could support your efforts.

CELEBRATE AN INTERNATIONAL DAY

The 3rd December is the International Day of Persons with Disabilities. It's also the anniversaries of the signing of the 1997 Mine Ban Treaty and the 2008 Convention on Cluster Munitions. And 10th December is International Human Rights Day!

Every school taking part can order free resources to catch the attention of the whole school.

PYRAMID OF SHOES

If you would like to make an even bigger impact, why not challenge your students to build a Pyramid of Shoes!

Shoes can be a powerful symbol of the lives and limbs lost to landmines and other explosive weapons. By building an eye-catching Pyramid of Shoes you could raise awareness in the whole school.

You could also make your own display to go alongside your Pyramid using our 'Syria's Young Survivors' posters. Hold a stall nearby and challenge students and teachers to test themselves with the quiz and sign the petition.

© John McGeachy/Handicap International

For more information on this eye-catching activity, please request our special Pyramid of Shoes pack using the enclosed order form.

Raise funds to save lives and limbs

Why not challenge your school to raise as much money as you can to support communities affected by conflict?

£30 could provide an artificial leg to an innocent victim like Malak (p.3). Raising £150 could help five amputees walk again!

£100 could provide children with life-saving education on the risks from unexploded weapons.

£250 could help our deminers like Fatou (right) clear 750m² of land - about the size of two basketball courts!

FUNDRAISING IDEAS

There are so many possibilities - your students could have a 'Tea at 10' bake sale at morning break, or hold a non-uniform day with an assembly using our resources. Or you could organise a school sponsored walk in support of amputees!

If your school is having a Christmas fair or concert, your students could set up a stall or have a raffle, or organise a special performance (busking, carol singing) to raise funds.

If you're thinking of organising a fundraising event do get in touch to discuss ideas!

Join Fatou's fight against landmines

Fatou Diaw, 31, grew up in Senegal. When she was 16 her cousin was killed by a landmine. Seven years later she applied to be a Handicap International deminer.

Deminers know that their work saves lives and they are proud of the job they do.

"When I found my first mine my blood froze. Then I started finding more and I got used to it. I have identified more than 50 mines."

The funds you raise could help Fatou and our teams worldwide clear unexploded bombs and educate children about the hidden dangers.

Petition: Stop bombing civilians

This year, we need your help to protect more civilians from explosive weapons.

When explosive weapons are used in populated areas a shocking 92% of the victims are innocent civilians. There has been a 45% increase in the number of people being killed or injured by explosive weapons since 2011.

Urgent action is needed to better protect civilians. The UK needs to acknowledge the impact of explosive weapons on civilians. We're calling on the government to publicly commit to ending the use of explosive weapons with wide-area effects in populated areas. With a new government we need to make our voices heard.

HOW TO TAKE ACTION

Let us know you will support the petition by returning the order form enclosed. You will receive a Campaign Kit containing petition sheets and more information about the petition.

Please return your collected signatures by 9th January 2017 to:

Spread the word

CONTACT YOUR LOCAL MEDIA

Thousands of people are killed by explosive weapons every year even though in many cases their use in populated areas violates International Humanitarian Law.

You could challenge students to send a letter to their local newspaper, radio or TV station, explaining why they are taking action to raise awareness about the impact of explosive weapons on children. Or you could ask students to write an article for the school newsletter to tell parents about their activities.

Once you tell us about your plans, we will send you a media pack with a template press release, key statistics, and information about how we could help your students contact journalists in your local area.

SHARE AND CELEBRATE

This term, students across the UK will be organising fantastic events, and we are keen to celebrate their inspiring efforts.

Please send your stories and photos of your activities to schools@hi-uk.org. We will share your achievements with fellow schools in the UK as well as campaigners and survivors around the world! You could also share your activities in your school newsletter or website.

Remember, you can keep up with the news from this year's campaign on social media at:

5 simple steps to get involved

2016 will be the biggest Forgotten 10 Challenge yet. It will be led by students in schools like yours around the UK.

There are 5 simple steps to get involved:

- 1 Read through this pack and decide how you and your students would like to take action. Choose the best day between 1st and 10th December for your activities, and decide how to get other students and teachers involved in learning, raising funds and supporting this year's petition.
- 2 Return the order form to let us know your plans and request free resources for your activities. Please make sure that we receive your order as soon as possible, and at least two weeks before your event!
- 3 We will send out your free resources in good time for your event. You will also receive our media pack, along with regular email updates to help you prepare.
- 4 Spread the word ahead of your activities. Challenge your students to contact the local press and make a big impact by involving the whole school.
- 5 Create a lasting record of your activities by taking lots of photos on the day and collecting feedback from students and teachers. Share your photos, tell us your stories and complete our short survey so that we can celebrate your achievements. We want to tell the world about your hard work!

RAISING OUR VOICES TOGETHER

Last year, students from schools across the country took up the Forgotten 10 Challenge in support of the victims of conflict.

We're very lucky to work with such engaged students and teachers. We'd love to support more young people to take action this year!

"I am extremely passionate about global issues. This is an issue that is not well known but it a strong killer. As a school we are doing everything we can to raise awareness."
Shelby, a Year 9 student at Hollingworth Academy, writing to her local MP.

The Forgotten 10 Challenge is a great way to give your students a powerful insight into important global issues. We will provide free teaching resources and ideas for activities, share your students' efforts online, and could even help you contact your local media.

Let's raise our voices and take up the Challenge together!

Start planning your activities today - sign up to take part using the order form enclosed.

10 days of action: 1-10 December 2016

Explore the impact of conflict on children worldwide and raise awareness and funds in support of the forgotten victims.

Sayed, 6, was on a bus to his village in Afghanistan when it hit an improvised mine. He was so badly injured that his left leg had to be amputated. After the accident he made the 250-kilometre journey with his dad to Handicap International's Kandahar Rehabilitation Centre. At the centre Sayed met our physiotherapist, Mahmood, and he was soon fitted for his first prosthetic leg and learning to walk again.

Worldwide, many victims of conflict are forgotten and, just like Sayed, struggle to access the support they need.

Please join us and take up the Challenge!

Could provide an artificial limb to an innocent victim like Sayed.

Sayed, 6, lost his left leg when the bus he was travelling on in Afghanistan hit an improvised mine. Thanks to supporters like you, our team fitted Sayed with an artificial leg and he is now learning to walk again. But many more amputees are still waiting for the support they need.

£150 could help five amputees like Sayed walk again!

Could provide children with life-saving education on the risks from unexploded weapons.

Our teams visit schools, hospitals, and community centres to educate families about the danger from landmines and unexploded weapons. Children are especially at risk and we work to ensure they know what to do if they find a suspicious-looking object.

£500

Could help our deminers save lives and limbs by clearing 1,500 m² of land - larger than an Olympic swimming pool.

Every year, thousands of people are killed or maimed by a landmine or cluster bomb. Our courageous deminers clear contaminated land in countries such as Lebanon and Laos, allowing children to play without the fear of an accident and communities to farm their land once more.

Where your money goes

The money raised during the Forgotten 10 Challenge will support our mine action and rehabilitation projects in countries such as Syria, Jordan, Laos and Yemen.

THANK YOU!
